Gateway To Build Huge Terminal In Romulus

ROMULUS--Gateway Transportation Co., Inc., one of the nation's major motor freight common carriers, will move its Detroit area operations to Romulus township when a new 102-door terminal, 60 per cent larger than its present terminal serving Detroit, is completed late this year.

Gateway has purchased 33 acres of ground on Inkster Rd., less than half a mile from Interstate 94, and construction is scheduled to begin on the new facility soon. The new terminal will cost about $1.5 million.

The terminal will contain 95,000 square feet of floor space of which 62,300 square feet is devoted to a dock area 575 by 110 feet in size.

The dock will feature an in-floor dragline for moving freight within the terminal, mechanical dock levelers to match truck beds of varying heights, a 10-ton crane for moving heavy loads and mercury-vapor lighting throughout.

A 2-story office section will contain 16,360 square feet for operations, sales, dispatch and other administrative functions plus a lunchroom and the first dormitory ever built by Gateway for its drivers.

The 20-room dormitory is to be used for housing drivers overnight when absent from their home terminals. The plant is so designed that an additional 10 dormitory rooms may be added as needed.

A garage section of the new terminal contains 17,600 square feet devoted to 10 tractor repair bays, three check lanes, a trailer repair stall and equipment servicing facilities.

John A. Murphy, president of Gateway, said the new construction is required to handle the volume of freight generated by the company in Detroit

Gateway service extends from Detroit southward to Atlanta and throughout Florida: westward to Chicago, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Des Moines and St. Louis, and eastward to New York, Philadelphia and New England points.

The company's major operations are in the heavily industrialized Great Lakes states connecting these states with the other points outlined.

"We are most pleased to become a part of Romulus Township and expect our association to be mutually beneficial", Murphy said. "Gateway's business is continually growing and this growth brought about the need for larger facilities to serve our Detroit area customers. In the near future we expect the new facilities and our growing business will bring about an increase in employment at the new terminal."

Gateway now employs 320 persons at its Detroit area terminal which is at 10400 Southern Avenue, Dearborn.

When completed the new Detroit area terminal will be one of the larger ones in the Gateway system.

Completion of Romulus' Proposed Charter Nears

Special Vote Set For May 7

BY HENRY CANTIN

ROMULUS--A proposed City Charter for Romulus Township nears final approval, Charter Commission Chairman Felix F. Rogalle has reported.

The 82-page document, patterned in many areas to that of the charter of Taylor, has been tentatively approved and depending on clerical assistance will be up for final vote of the nine member charter commission probably Saturday or Sunday of this week, Rogalle announced.

All pertinent sections of the proposed charter have been finished and only a few items needing clarification by the commission's attorney on their legality or feasibility remains.

Romulus Township voters, who approved city incorporation in the November, 1968 election, will be asked to approve the proposed Romulus charter in a special election May 7.

The special election was set by the Wayne County Election Commission on request of the charter commission.

FIRE LEAVES FAMILY DESTITUTE--Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the interior and contents of the home of Charles Frankiin, located at 6117 Carnegie, Romulus Feb. 19. One of Franklin's eight children was critically burned and is being treated at the U of M Burn Center, Ann Arbor. Area residents and township officials including the Red Cross have joined in a united effort to assist the family. The Relocation Division of Urban Renewal has lodged the family in one of the public housing units, located at 6388 Fourth St.

PTO Meeting

BELLEVILLE--The Parents Teachers Organization at Edgemont Elementary School will hold a meeting tonight (Feb. 25) at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at Edgemont School.

The speaker at the meeting will be Mrs. Laurie Middlemiss, special education teacher for emotional disturbed children at Yorkwood Center, Ypsilanti.

Her topic will be entitled "Emotionally Disturbed Children Definitions and Myths."

An Open Letter To Romulus Citizens

On Tuesday, Feb. 10, the Employees of the Romulus Township Administrative Offices and Water and Sanitation Department went out on strike.

We wish to inform you as citizens that the township employees had emergency crews ready and available to work at all times. These emergency crews did in fact work during the strike so that no citizen of Romulus would be affected by loss of our services.

We feel that you as citizens and interested parties have a right to know the reason that we the employees of Romulus Township felt we had no other course of action to follow except to strike.

We have had a union contract with the Township of Romulus for two years and in that two years we have tried repeatedly to negotiate Appendix B and C of our contract with the Township Board.

Appendix B -- CLASSIFICATIONS AND WAGE RATES: A classification and wage rate schedule will be compiled making such list a part of this agreement.

Appendix C -- JOB DESCRIPTIONS: General duties and job descriptions will be negotiated for all classifications and made a part of this agreement.

At the present time there are certain employees who are working without job classifications and others who are working in one classification but being paid for another. If these Appendixes were negotiated and settled it would mean wage adjustments for only very few employees.

We feel that the Township Board Members and Trustees have been especially unfair to the employees in refusing to negotiate with the Union in good faith considering the nature of our grievances.

We feel also that the public should be aware of the fact that a State Labor Mediator has been necessary on three separate occasions to settle disputes on a contract that is not yet two years old, and that the Romulus township officials and trustees have not received a favorable judgement on either of the two cases that have been settled. There is a third case pending at the present time.

When a mediator is found necessary to settle disputes arising between union and management it results in large expenditures of the tax payers money.

The township officials and trustees have never refused to bring up the subject of their salaries at the Annual Meetings of the Township or refused to accept a raise in salary, but when it comes to the working man they refuse not only to discuss salaries but job classifications as well.

We hope that you as Citizens of Romulus will remember the attitude that the township officials and trustees have taken toward their employees when they again appeal to you as voters of Romulus Township in the coming months.

Romulus Comes To Aid Of Burned Out Family

ROMULUS--A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home and contents of a Romulus Township family of 10, including eight children.

The family of Charles Franklin, of 6117 Carnegie, where the fire broke out on the morning of Feb. 19 lost everything his family owned except the clothing on their backs.

A son, Trent, 4, was critically burned as results of the fire and was taken to Wayne County General Hospital thence to the burn center at University Hospital, Ann Arbor where he is presently undergoing treatments.

Immediately after word of Franklin's loss was reported throughout the township, a united wave of assistance came to his rescue.

The relocation office of the Urban Renewal Office in Romulus succeeded in placing the family in one of the new and modern public housing units at 6388 Fourth St.

Community leaders and students started a fund campaign to aid the family. Also a number of citizens from Dearborn and immediate vicinity asked to help. The Red Cross was contacted and is to assist.

Franklin, who was buying the home had just procured work at Kerr Manufacturing Company, Romulus.

The home was not insured. Because the home had not been brought up to standards to qualify for insurance. Mrs. Franklin reported.

Anyone wishing to contribute are asked to contact Romulus police, or the Urban Renewal office.

The Franklin children are: Charles, Jr. 18; Sherrie, 16; William, 15; Phillip 14; Melanie, 13; Maria, 10; Donna, 9; and Trent.

The Helping Hand Thrift Shop is assisting the family with emergency clothing, but according to Mrs. Florence Klein, there is an urgent need for boys' clothes of all sizes. Bedding, canned food and

Lenten Season

(Editor's Note: The following is the third of a series of Lenten Sermons by area pastors and leading churchmen. This week's article was submitted by Rev. Wilson Wood, pastor of the Belleville United Presbyterian Church.)

By Rev. Wilson Wood

People often take extra precautions to protect the things they regard as most precious.

I have some very old books that are carefully wrapped and stored away. Before inviting anyone to examine them I like to be reasonably sure that person can appreciate their great age and will know how to handle them.

There are mothers who will not permit their small children to venture out on a cold day until they have been bundled up with so many wraps that they can barely walk. Whenever a head of state is to make a public appearance, elaborate and expensive precautions are taken to insure his safety.

Something like this is going on in Christendom while the Lenten season is being observed. When Lent has run its course it will be time for Christendom's most precious proclamation, "The Lord is risen!" to be heard. Those who care about this proclamation want to be able to hear it the way it was meant to be heard.

Hearing these words the way they were meant to

Professor Cites Reasons

Foreign Carmakers Presenting Challenge To Auto Industry

ANN ARBOR—The American automobile industry faces a strong and continuing challenge from foreign carmakers, a University of Michigan business economist suggests.

Prof. Ross J. Wilhelm of the U—M Graduate School of Business Administration points out that today we are importing over 11 per cent of the cars sold in the United States " and there is every indication that the percentage will continue to grow over time."

This means that the production of the cars sold to the American public is gradually shifting to overseas plants, and a smaller proportion is being produced in the U.S.

"It is obvious what this will mean to the American automobile producers and workers if the trend continues," Wilhelm notes. "The reason for the trend is that it is cheaper to produce an automobile overseas than it is here. And the lower cost is not simply due to lower wages which are paid to foreign workers.

Foreign workers do receive lower wages, but in many cases they are also more efficient than are the American workers.

"Thus, even if foreign automobile workers were paid the same wages as American workers, it still would be cheaper to produce many cars overseas."

Prof. Wilhelm discussed the subject of foreign car competition on his radio program, "Business Review," produced by the University Broadcasting Service (WUOM, WVGR).

The rising trend in automobile imports began in he 1950's and reached its first peak in 1959, according to Wilhelm.

He observed that the early foreign cars were poorly designed for the American market, being underpowered and intended originally for a market where gasoline prices were higher and average owner income lower than in the U.S. Foreign cars were commonly considered both uncomfortable and hazardous to drive on high-speed American expressways.

As a consequence, the U—M economist says, American automobile manufacturers were able to meet and beat the foreign car competition by the introduction of the compact car, which was more powerful, roomier, and more comfortable, even if slightly more costly to own and operate.

"The compact car did prove to be an answer to foreign car competition and by the early 1960's, the sales of foreign cars in the U.S. dropped to almost half their peak level," he recalls. "However the compact car did not prove to be a long-term answer. Since the early 1960's the proportion of foreign cars sold here has steadily increased.

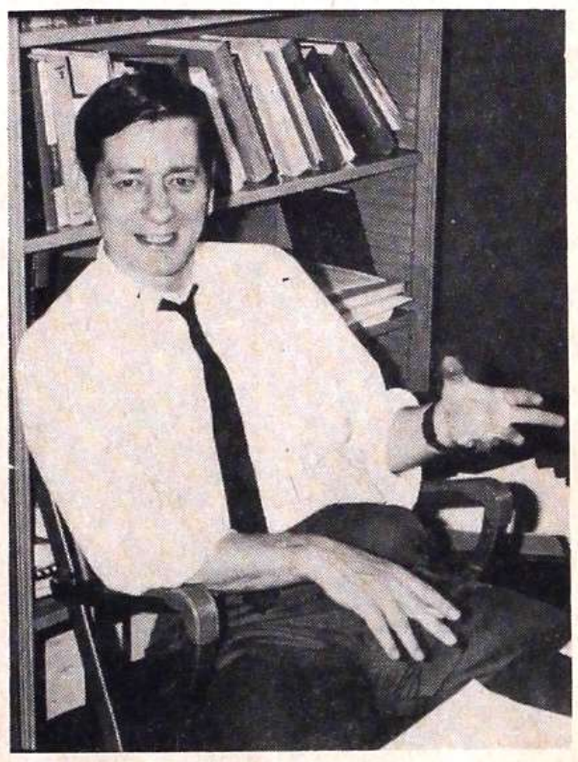

"The task of the American automobile industry today is much more difficult than it was in the 1950s. The fact is that the new foreign cars being imported are better designed for the American scene than were the old ones.

"While the American automobile manufacturers are producing small cars such as Ford's Maverick to meet foreign competition, and smaller and sportier low-priced cars are planned for the 1970's it is doubtful that the design and price of the Amerivan cars can be the sole answer to foreign competition."

Wilhelm suggests that the typical Japanese employe, for example, "is much more dedicated to holding costs down and output up than is the typical American auto worker."

He concludes "It seems most likely that there will have to be a major change in the relationship between the typical automobile worker in the U.S. and the automobile manufacturers if we are to keep the American automobile industry in the United States.

Because of this need it seems likely that working conditions and productivity per employe will be the key issue in our automobile contract labor bargaining in the 1970s rather than the simple question of wages and fringe benefits. We may be seeing a preview of 1970 bargaining in the strike at Flint General Motors plants where this is the key issue."

FOREIGN CHALLENGE—Professor Ross J. Wilhelm, U of M Graduate School of Business Administration reports that United States faces a strong and continuing challenge from foreign carmakers. He cites dedication of foreign car production workers and lower manufacturing costs as major reasons.

Kids Prefer Mom To Food

"I've often found that it saves time to take time with your children," says Mrs. Gail Imig, family life specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service.

She says some recent research proves this point.

When one group of children became fussy late in the day, their mothers "bought them off" with something to eat. The mothers of another group, instead of offering food, took time to give the child a few minutes of undivided attention.

When the two groups were compared, it was found that the group who got attention from Mother--instead of just food--were the most quickly and effectively satisfied.

"Mother's attention means more than food," Mrs. Imig concludes.

Enrolled in 97 member countries of the Boy Scout World Conference are 12,003,643 boys and leaders.

34th District Court Reports On Operations

ROMULUS—The 34th District Court has reported its financial operations for 1969.

The District, located in Romulus, embraces the communities of Belleville and the townships of Huron, Romulus, Sumpter and Van Buren and is presided over by District Judge James B. Stone.

Total income reported for the year from all sources totaled $389,715, Chief Clerk, Charles Walls, reported.

This income is derived from contributions from communities under its jurisdiction and from criminal cases, bond and Metro Airport parking violations.

Disbursements of this income, besides paying for court administrative staffs and operations, include refunds back to communities.

The 1969 income from criminal, bond and parking violations amounted to $284,354. Distribution of this income included the following payments to areas covered by the court's operations:

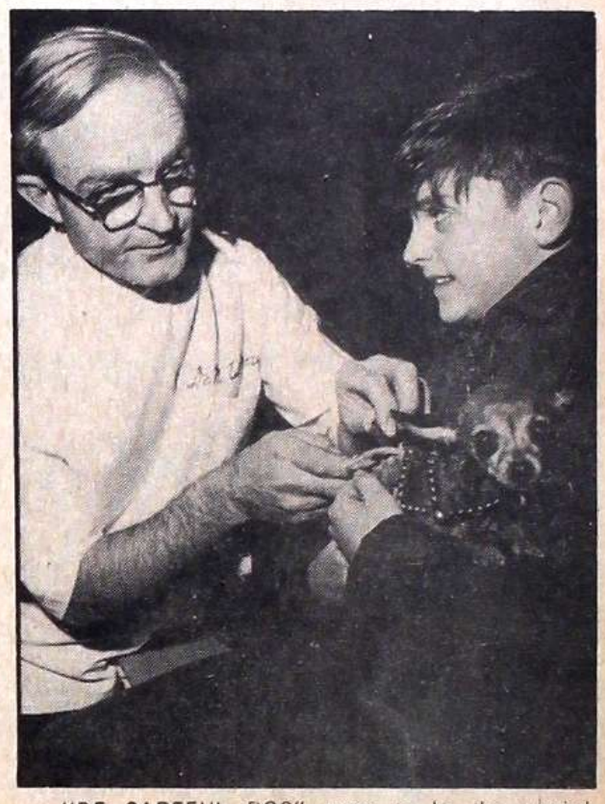

Belleville, $10,765; Huron Township, $2,514; Romulus, $80,739; Sumpter $6,738; and Van Buren Township, $60,126. The sum of $16,963 was placed in the parking bureau escrow account pending a determination on whether the Wayne County Road Commission, operators of the Metro Airport or Romulus retain these funds.

Income from contributions from communities served by the district court amounted to $105,360 in 1969.

Total expenditures out of this income amounted to $98,774, leaving a balance of $6,586.

The contributions were as follows: Belleville $4,890; Huron Township, $16,227; Romulus, $40,309; Sumpter, $13,095; and Van Buren Township, $23,863.

Refunds made to these communities by the court were: Belleville, $207; Huron $703; Romulus, $2,379; Sumpter, $637; and Van Buren $2,658.

25 Millionth Transmission Produced At Hydra-matic

YPSILANTI Production of the 25 Millionth Hydra-matic Transmission by the Hydra-matic Division of General Motors was announced by J.S. Garlic, general manager of the division.

A group of State, Civic, and General Motors officials and Hydra-matic employees met the milestone transmission as it came off the Willow Run plant assembly line at 11:30 a.m. Feb. 20.

It is being shipped to the Oldsmobile Division in Lansing, where it will be installed in a 1970 Oldsmobile.

The first produced Hydra-matic transmission was used in the 1940 Oldsmobile passenger car.

Hydra-matic Division, the pioneer of the field of automatic transmissions, was established in 1939 as a result of General Motors research and development activities.

Shortly after commercial production started, World War II interfered and the division's efforts were channeled exclusively to the manufacture of Hydra-matic Transmissions for heavy duty military vehicles and tanks.

After the war, with the increasing demand for Hydra-matic transmissions, manufacturing facilities had to be expanded. Early in 1949 ground was broken for the Livonia Plant in Livonia, Mich. On August 12, 1953, this facility was completely destroyed by fire.

The General Motors organization responded to this emergency and production of Hydra-matics was resumed only 84 days later at the present Willow Run location. This rapid recovery from a disaster was without parallel in U.S. industry.

Today, the Hydra-matic plant covers over 80 acres and provides 2,658,817 square feet of manufacturing area devoted to the production of Hydra-matic transmissions.

In 1940, the first full production year, 60,000 transmissions were manufactured by Hydra-matic. During 1969 Model Year, nearly 2,000,000 transmissions were produced by the division for Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, and Rolls Royce automobiles, GMC and Chevrolet Light Duty Trucks, Kaiser Jeeps and military vehicles.

The Division is also engaged in the production of M16A1 Rifles for the U.S. Government.

Charter is Near

Members of the charter commission have held 65 meetings of two to four hours duration each since approval of the city incorporation proposition two years ago this November.

Another session is scheduled for tonight when a report is to be made by Charles L. Dick, Jr. and Arthur Dittmar, Sr., Commission member on the charter's provision for the inauguration of the non-partisan government of the new city.

The charter commission when elected by the township's voters was given two years to present a city charter for voter action.

Some township officials and community leaders have expressed concern that the charter will not be ready in time for voter decision on May 7.

Reports from some of the township's veteran political leaders of both parties disclosed that political differences among some members of the charter commission has at times delayed final action on various areas of the proposed city charter, otherwise they stated, a city charter would have been finished and published for voter consideration long before now.

Provisions of the proposed city charter calls for a strong mayor type government with a seven man council.

Township voters approved city incorporation by a vote of 2,187 as against 1,657 in a special election held jointly with the general election of Nov. 5, 1968.

The nine member charter commission elected by the voters to draw up a proposed charter were:

Felix F. Rogalle, Alfred J. Perry, Terry L. Troutt, Charles L. Dick, Jr., Arthur Dittmar, Sr., James P. Foley, William M. Oakley, Jesse L. Tryon and Mrs. Mickie Lopota.

A Household Shower is being held tomorrow (Feb. 26) from 6 to 8 p.m. at the "Head Start" headquarters, 7335 Washington Street, Romulus Township (next to the Special Services Building).

The gathering is being sponsored by the Head Start Staff in behalf of the family of a little Head Start pupil, Trent Franklin, who was seriously burned in a fire.

The household shower sponsors are requesting dishes, bedding, towels, furniture and the like for the family. For further information, phone 728-8390.

Coffee and refreshments will be served shower guests.

Huron Schools Vote Millage

NEW BOSTON--Voters of the Huron School District will take to the polls on April 6 to vote on a three mill levy renewal proposal.

The school board is asking for renewal of three mills that expired with the collection of the 1969 school tax.

The millage is for school operations only for the 1970-71 school year.

The mill levy renewal will bring into the school district $74,000 based on present school district property assessment, state equalized.

School officials reported that under the proposed state aid formula for next year, the school district will lose an additional $70,000 if the millage renewal is defeated.

Present total school millage, including the three mills up for renewal, is 20.9 mills per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized.

Project's Plans Are Studied

ROMULUS—Proposed plat plans for the construction of a 249-unit apartment project is under review of the Romulus Building Department, Joseph B. Gallagher, department manager, announced.

be heard requires more than listening to someone speak about them on Easter Sunday. This is a proclamation that overwhelms the intellect, invites skepticism and provokes confusion.

If one is not properly prepared for the hearing he may either dismiss it as a myth or receive it as a good trick that God did to show everyone how clever he is. The latter response seems even more irreverent than the former.

Christendom holds that this proclamation is neither myth nor magic. It is a mystery that is meant to set men free from the fears that hold them back when they are called to live responsibly.

The world is ever in need of such a mystery, and if it is to be found in this proclamation men do well to prepare themselves for the hearing.

Chudzinski-Domen Wed

Florida Honeymoon Follows February Vows

In a five o'clock ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church February 7, Jeanne Marie Doman became the bride of Raymond Chudzinski. Father Robert Wheelock presided at the double ring rite before an altar graced with bouquets of white carnations.

Jeanne, the daughter of Mrs. Ray Domen of 194 Liberty Street, Belleville, was escorted to the sanctuary by her brother, Bruce Domen of Belleville.

For her wedding day she designed and made her bridal gown which was fashioned of peau de soie satin with an overlay of Chantilly lace forming the empire bodice. The lace motif was repeated on the mandarin collar and on the wide cuffs which edged her Juliet sleeves. Her modified A-line skirt terminated in a chapel train.

A cluster of white satin roses secured her silk illusion veil which drifted to mid-back length and she held an arrangement of white orchids, carnations and baby's breath.

DAWN ION came from Evergreen, Colorado, to serve as honor attendant at her aunt's wedding. Another niece, Lynn Ion, a student at Western State College in Gunnison, Colorado, was bridesmaid along with Irene Sohoza and the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Chudzinski both of Belleville.

Their formal gowns were designed with purple velvet skirts and lavender bodices with scoop necklines and long sleeves. Their accessories were lavender bow headpieces and purple velvet muffs centered with white carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chudzinski of 41721 Savage Road, Belleville, asked his brother, Paul, to be best man. Ushers included his twin brother, Richard; Joe Sakewski of Belleville; and Jim Gorney, a cousin from Temperance.

For the happy occasion, Mrs. Domen wore a beige ensemble with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother donned a champagne brocade coat-dress with harmonizing accessories. Both added baby orchids to their outfits.

The P.N.A. Hall was reserved for the reception which followed. Some 300 friends and relatives attended.

Since returning from their two-weeks honeymoon to Florida and the Southern states, the newlyweds have made their home at 476 W. Columbia Avenue, Belleville.

Both Jeanne and Ray are Belleville High School graduates. Prior to her marriage she was employed by the University of Michigan. A former U.S. Marine, Ray is employed by Chudzinski Cement.

Easter Seal Volunteers Open Fund Campaign

Volunteers throughout Western Wayne County are busy these days with plans for the annual distribution of Easter Seals for the benefit of crippled children and adults in this area.

A part of the nationwide effort, with Ed Sullivan, the noted TV personality as General Chairman, this fund raising effort provides the foundation for services which supplement those already available in the community.

Each local Easter Seal affiliate determines its own service program, based on community needs, over and above the information, referral and follow up service which rapidly is becoming the basic program in all Easter Seal Societies.

Sparma who visited the Easter Seal Center near Michigan and Middlebelt in Inkster during the summer Day Camp for Crippled Children was impressed by the efforts of the youngsters toward social adjustment.

Many local areas are planning special features during the Easter Seal Appeal as supplements to the mailings, including the street sale of paper lilies made by homebound handicapped individuals as a means of making a little extra money for their personal needs. Some communities may have door to door appeals, business solicitations, special events.

The Campaign opened Feb. 23 and reaches a climax on Easter Sunday, March 29.

LIFE HEALTH

"Whiplash" Neck Injuries

"Whiplash" neck injuries are rapidly building into one of America's greatest health problems.

Ever increasing numbers of vehicles on the highways, increased speed and increased power of the vehicles, and the constantly-growing system of freeways throughout the country, continually expand the opportunity for the type of accident which can result in "whiplash" injuries and agonizing pain.

While such injuries remain little-understood in many branches of the healing arts, the chiropractor, because of his constant training and study of spine and its alignment, is well aware of the significance of even minute changes in the alignment. He realizes that "whiplash" victims really are in need of help.

The chiropractor, through scientific examination, can locate tiny spinal displacements which may result from "whiplash-type" accidents. With competent, gentle adjustments he restores proper alignment to release dangerous nerve pressure and allow nature to restore the body to its normal, healthy condition. Cindy Is 'Showered'

THOSE PRE-NUPTIAL days are usually pretty hectic for the bride-to-be but there are always the nice, relaxing hours as well when friends entertain in her honor.

Such was the case Sunday, February 15, when Mrs. August F. Heuer and daughters, Pam, Paulette and Patti, assumed the roles of hostesses and carried out their plans for a shower honoring Cindy Susterka of Belleville.

Some 28 friends and relatives arrived at their Farmington home for an afternoon of bridal-theme games and the buffet dinner which followed. Using a pink and white color scheme for their party, the foursome centered their beautifully-appointed dining room table with fresh pink carnations and white hyacinths.

Guests sat at individually-set card tables while dining and then returned to the family room to watch Cindy open the many colorful items for her future home. Lending a hand with the ribbons and wrappings were Connie Squelch, who's to be maid of honor, and Faith Ransom, both of Belleville.

The 'miscellaneous' event was attended by friends from Trenton, Flat Rock, Dearborn Heights, Ypsilanti, Addison, Farmington, and Redford.

Making the trip from Belleville were Mrs. Dolly Morris, Mrs. Ruth Hayes, Mrs. Betty Susterka, Karen Gentle, Janie Lastinger, and Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

Cindy will be married February 27 to Gary R. Gentle at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Dual Dinner Date

BECAUSE HIS dad would be gone on his actual birth date, Ray Liebeler's birthday was observed the following day, February 18, which just happens to be his parents wedding anniversary.

So- the event was a double celebration with guests wishing Ray a happy entry into his teen years and congratulating 'Lieb' and Gwen on their 15th year of togetherness.

Invited to their Ormond Drive home for a special Italian dinner were Marge Roberts, Louise Hope, Bert and Lee Smith and daughters, Luanne, Susie and Carol, and Ray's buddy, David Barber.

Birthdays At The Sierota's

TERRI ANN Sierota, who's the Valentine girl in her family, turned four on the 14th and the following day celebrated the big event with relatives who called. For the occasion her parents, the Ron Sierotas of Quirk Road, entertained at a cheese fondue party with Terri's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. John Kadle; her great-aunt, Mrs. Dana Miller; and her cousins, Johnnie and Tommie Hand, all of Dearborn, joining in the festivities.

A few days later Terri and her sisters, Valerie and Karen, and their mom drove to Bill Knapp's in Ann Arbor for dinner and a special birthday cake. Invited along were close friends, Nancy and Nora Hudge, and their mother, Mary Anne.

And because they're always in Florida where their two daughters mark their March 6th and 10th birthdays, Dr. and Mrs. Kadle played host at an early observance of the two dates and took the 'girls' to Kingsley Inn in Birmingham for dinner. Honored guests were Jan Sierota and Barbara Hand whose hubbies, Ron and John, completed the family portrait.

Bachelor Becomes Gourmet Chef

When the man-about-town turns cook—his best friends are bottles, boxes and cans.

The proliferation of convenience foods—from frozen or canned mushrooms, bottled lemon and garlic juice, to brown-and-serve bread and rolls—has lured more and more urbane males into the kitchen to test their culinary creativity, according to a recent survey by ReaLemon Foods.

Not content with mixing the perfect Martini or the best whiskey sour in town, 72 percent of urban bachelors queried by ReaLemon consider it a mark of sophistication to prepare and serve gourmet meals.

Spirit Of Detroit Group Sets Goals

DETROIT—Spirit of Detroit Association has fixed its goal at $100,000 as the amount needed to put on the 1970 unlimited hydroplane races on the Detroit River, according to an announcement from Commodore John W. Love.

The 1970 race will be designated as the Horace E. Dodge Cup Race and will be held on Sunday, June 28, with the nation's fastest propeller-driven boats in competition.

Major fund-raising activity for the race will be the gala champagne preview of the March 11-15 Detroit Spring Antique Show-Sale at the Light Guard Armory. The preview will be Tuesday, March 10, from 8 to 11 p.m.

Champagne, hors d'oeuvres, strolling musicians, and much talk about boats and boating will combine to make it a gala evening. Preview Chairman Florence Sisman will wear the $50,000 ball gown created for Mrs. Horace E. Dodge by the couturier to the Queen of England.

A silver ship trophy designed and crafted in 1921 by Tiffany's, the famous New York jewelry firm, will be on display, through the courtesy of Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, honorary chairman.

Preview ticket holders may browse and buy among the antique show's 150 exhibits, and are also entitled to return for an additional full day of antique shopping on any regular day of the show, March 11 through 15.

The public is invited to take this opportunity to meet the people behind the boats and the boat races, while helping Spirit of Detroit Association stage this year's race.

Tickets may be purchased from J.L. Hudson's Ticket Service, the Spirit of Detroit Association, or at the door on Tuesday evening, March 10.

Living In Central America

Former Peace Corps Volunteers Wed In Ohio

The Calvary United Presbyterian Church in Canton, Ohio was the setting for the recent winter wedding of Suzanne Claire Jones of Canton and Earl Threadgould, Jr. of Belleville.

The daughter of Mrs. Helen Jones of Canton, the bride was presented in marriage by her brother, Tim Jones. She appeared in a formal-length sheath of peau de soie and Chantilly lace styled with a batteau neckline on the long-sleeved bodice.

Her illusion veil which extended beyond the long train of the gown, was caught to a floral headpiece. Her bouquet was comprised of white daisy mums interspersed with small lilies and ivy.

MRS. THOMAS Staley of Columbus, Ohio, a former schoolmate of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridal attendants were Polly Kaye Bair of Canton, another former schoolmate, and Judy Bietzel of New Philadelphia, Ohio, a cousin of the bride.

Identically dressed, their gowns were of peacock blue silk with the empire bodices outlined in matching braid. Blue stand-up bows secured their shoulder-length veils and they carried bouquets of white daisy mums and ivy tied with blue ribbons.

Tricia Sue Jones, three-year old niece of the bride, filled the role of flowergirl. Her long-sleeved white lace frock was accented with peacock blue ribbon at the waistline. The basket she held was filled with white daisy mums.

The bridegroom, son of the senior Earl Threadgoulds of Michigan Avenue, Belleville, asked James L. Barthel of Salem, Wisconsin to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Kyle M. Converse of Hastings and Gary Blanchard of East Lansing, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

MRS. EARL THREADGOULD, JR.

At the reception, which followed in the church parlors, Linda Threadgould, sister of the bridegroom, took charge of registering the 200 guests.

A graduate of Lehman High School in Canton, the new Mrs. Threadgould attended Kent State University. Earl graduated from Wayne Memorial High School and from Michigan State University where he was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. He is presently working as an agricultural advisor for the U.S. Agency for International Development in San Salvador.

Following their wedding trip through New York State, the newlyweds took up residence in San Salvador, El Salvador, Central America, where both were previously assigned as Peace Corps volunteers.

The rehearsal dinner at Dick's Parkade in Canton was hosted by the bridegroom's parents who also entertained at an open house for the newlyweds during their recent visit to Michgan.

Home From West Coast

BACK IN town after an absence of nearly two weeks are Don and Lillian Partridge of W. Huron River Drive who jetted out to California on the fifth and returned on the 17th. Their son Greg's graduation from basic training was the reason for their journey and after seeing him made Airman Apprentice at the U.S. Naval base in San Diego, they 'did' the area together taking in Sea World, a harbor cruise, and a 52-mile scenic tour during their stay.

Then it was onto the Los Angeles area to see former Bellevillite, Glenn Kottke, and his wife, Mary, who invited them to spend a couple days at their Hollywood home.

With Glenn as their guide, the trio visited Disneyland and also toured Universal Studios and a number of interesting places in the region.

Greg is currently enjoying the remainder of his 14-day leave at home before he makes his way to Memphis, Tennessee and his new assignment.

Loria's Host A 'Re-Run'

THE PAST week-end meant a trip to Gaylord and fun in the snow for five local couples. Having had a taste of Northern Michigan in the winter last February, the group did a 'repeat' when Joe and Mary Loria issued their invitation for 1970.

Bill and Flo Hudge, Art and Joy Hill, Ed and Mary Anne Hudge, and Bert and Lee Smith made up the guest list at the Loria's cottage at Otsego Lake and spent the sun-filled hours sno-mobiling in the area.

The former couple's children, Mike, Judy and Cindy, were dropped off in Brighton with their grandparents, the Walter Hess', and then taken to Traverse City for the week-end. Making their quarters in the Hess' trailer there, the trio also spent their time making tracks via Ski-Doo.

Junior High Girls Hold A 'Mock' Fashion Show

BELLEVILLE—A delightful "Mock" Fashion Show and luncheon took place at the Belleville Junior High School the second week in January.

Mrs. Eugenia Ferguson and some of her home economic girls prepared the food that consisted of a tuna-noodle casserole, gelatin salad, hot rolls, pie, coffee and punch.

Mrs. Carolyn Hyde assisted by Karen Burnett and Teresa Minder were in charge of the program.

Cindy Hammond and Seri Leppiaho narrated the entertaining and unusual fashion show. Mary Ann Haynes modeled the Box Jacket which was a decorated cardboard box, a Pill Box Hat, and a rubber hose encircled her legs to show the latest fashions in hosiery.

A Pastel Tissued gown made from Kleenex was worn by Tona Butler. Charlotte Whitmer modeled the Real Candy Print dress and Marcia Turner bounced before the audience in the latest Spring Coat and Spring Hat proving that springs from overstuffed furniture are usable.

A lovely Tea Gown adorned with tea bags and strainers was modeled by Diane Craven. Cheryl Knight wore a Dinner Gown fashioned from a tablecloth and decorated with paper plates, spoons, forks and knives.

The Buttons and Bows Dress was modeled by Lori Schaerer and the Pin Striped Dress by Linda Gentle. Popcorn, pretzels and olives made a unique Cocktail Dress worn by Debbie Stumbo. A print dress made from newspaper looked charming on Cheryl Cilia and Pat Peters looked quite collegiate in her Slip Over Sweater which was a sweater over a slip.

The final creation, the Evening Gown, was a flannel night gown glamorized by hair curlers and a spare tire and sleepily modeled by Sue Bohms.

Elderly Homestead Exemption Passed

Governor William G. Milliken has signed into law the revised version of the Homestead Tax Exemption bill.

The bill, unanimously supported in the legislature, will provide tax relief on the homesteads of thousands of Michigan's senior citizens.

An interested observer at the signing ceremony was Clark H. Beiriger of Grand Rapids, a member of the Michigan Commission on Aging and Chairman of its Legislative Committee. Beiriger said:

"During the series of Legislative Hearings held by the commission last spring, older people repeatedly told us that increasing school and property taxes were making it impossible for them to stay in their homes. This revised Homestead Tax means that more elderly people will be able to maintain and stay in their own homes."

The new law allows persons 65 and over to apply for an exemption on the first $2,500 of their homestead tax bill, if their total income is $6,000 or less – up from the former $5,000 income limitation.

The new law completely eliminates a ceiling in state equalized property valuation.

The ceiling had previously been $10,000, and as more counties in Michigan were bringing the assessed values to the 50 percent required by the state equalized valuation law, thousands of seniors found that they were no longer eligible for the Homestead Tax Exemption.

All people seeking an exemption, must file for an exemption each year, despite the fact they had an exemption in previous years.

Filing must be done at the office of the local assessor.

Lions Club To See Men's Hair Styles

BELLEVILLE–Not to be outdone by their ladies and in view of the fact men's hair styles have undergone some radical changes in the recent past, the Lions Club of Belleville and Romulus have decided to "update" their knowledge in this area.

For their program tonight (Feb. 25) they have invited Frank Salomone, executive officer of Local No. 552 of the Journeyman Barbers, Hair Dresser, Cosmetologists and Proprietors International Union of America.

Salomone has confirmed that he will bring to this meeting four men hairstylists to demonstrate.

Each stylist is a state champion trophy winner and all are employed by Leo Martino, owner of the Golden Razor Barber Shop, located in downtown Detroit.

Program chairman, Burt Griffith, urges all Lions and their guests to attend. He hopes to have the "manes" whether thick, thin, long or short, of at least four lucky Lions completely restyled.

Meeting on College Center Held By Advisory Council

ROMULUS—At a meeting of the Compensators Policy Advisory Council held last Thursday night, preliminary information was received and collected to bring a Community College and Vocational Arts program to Romulus.

Representatives from the state Department of Education, Wayne County Community College, Eastern Michigan University, and the Wayne County Intermediate School District met with the Advisory Council to explain the concept of community education.

A film, "To Touch A Child" describe one communities experiences as they progressed from an idea to a full scale community college program.

Speakers: Don Strobel (WCCC), Dick Smith (State Dept. of Education), Clyde LeTarte (Eastern Michigan University) and Don Leverenz (Wayne County Intermediate School District), discussed possibilities in greater detail, affirming that Romulus had many advantages to offer and gain from implementing a program.

Questionnaire sheets had been prepared by a temporary planning committee, who, (on Monday,) had met with the educators and representatives of other aspects of the community and school district. (The questionnaires are designed to test the extent and areas of interest to be expected from the community. The committee plans to send the surveys, with an explaining letter, to township residents.

Based on the results of the survey, tentative decisions will be made concerning the types of program best suited to the citizens of Romulus.

Costs for a Community College program are expected to be "out of pocket", with financing coming from fee plus state and federal assistance. $8. a credit hour approximates the fee expected. But, as the educators explained, the Community College concept is one that utilizes existing school buildings during times when they are ordinarily closed, it seeks to use and enhance existing facilities and programs and to further their application into the community.

The next meeting of the temporary planning committee will be on March 2, at 9 a.m. in the School Board offices, on Grant Road.

At that time, statistical information will be presented to decide if a Community College program in Romulus is a practical idea, if it has support in the community and in what areas, and how best to implement opportunities for employment to create an educational and vocational program for now and future needs.

Carla Hay Places In Top U.S. Horse Show

ROMULUS -- Miss Carla Hay, 14, of 14170 Huron River Drive, participated recently in the 15th Annual All Arabian Horse Show in Scottsdale, Arizona.

It was the first time she had competed with her newly-acquired pure-bred Arabian gelding, "Cest La Vie", whose former owners were Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Ford of Lancer Arabian Farm of Brighton, Mich.

The Scottsdale show held Feb. 13, 14, 15 is rated the leading all-Arabian show in the United States, in matters of prestige, number of entries and quality of horses exhibited.

In this Class A competition Carla and "Cest La Vie" made an excellent showing and earned ribbons in four classes.

Miss Hay placed fifth in the open Native Costume Class and later earned seventh place Blue Ribbon in the Championship Costume Class, competing against adult riders as well as Juniors.

Horses and their exhibitors came from all parts of the U.S. and Canada. Several had previously placed among the top ten in the Nationals. Carla also earned fifth place ribbon in Western Horsemanship; while "Cest La Vie" placed fourth in the gelding at halter class.

Miss Hay, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hay, has proven herself an excellent horsewoman here in Michigan in 4 years of 4-H and other competition, having won numerous local, county and state honors showing part and pure-bred Arabians. She has also placed in the Michigan Arabian Futurity; the Michigan Arabian Show; and the Michigan Livestock Horse Show in Detroit.

In Scottsdale, Carla also had the experience of showing for the first time in English, competing in the English pleasure for geldings.

Carla's elaborate red velvet and gold-trimmed horse costume, saddle and bridle, were fashioned by Burcroff Upholstery of Romulus. Her sister, Mrs. Margie Herrmann sewed her all gold metallic cloth Arabian suit, hat and veil.

Kidney Machine Drive Gets Assist

ROMULUS--Area residents have responded in a campaign by Girl Scout troop No. 416 to gather 600,000 General Mills coupons necessary to obtain a kidney machine, according to Mrs. Robin Kring, troop leader.

Since the project was recently reported in the Romulus Roman, Mrs. Kring has received phone calls of support and coupons have been arriving through the mail. Other readers have organized projects to assist the girls.

Mrs. Ruth Samuels, leader of Junior Girl Scout troop No. 620 offered her assistance. She plans a coupon raffle of a pair of roller skates.

On Wednesday, (Feb. 18.) a representative of the Michigan Kidney Foundation met with the girl scouts to show a film that told of the purpose, use and operation of a kidney machine. The girls had many questions which were answered in detail said Mrs. Kring.

"Just how many are 600,000 General Mills Coupons?", Mrs. Kring wondered, "Enough to fill a station wagon top to bottom, front to back," said the Michigan Kidney Foundation.

Anyone who wants to help with the project may contact Mrs. Kring at 9509 Lisa Drive, Romulus, 48174.

Appeals Procedures Explained By Judges

WAYNE--Four district court judges conducted a panel on appeals at the monthly meeting of the Suburban Bar Association of Western Wayne County, Feb. 11.

Speaking briefly and answering questions from approximately 27 attorneys were Judge James Mies, chairman of the panel, of Livonia; Judge John Seiler of Wayne, Judge Thomas Smith of Westland and Judge James Stone of Romulus-Van Buren.

"It was a very informative meeting and helpful in assisting us to fully protect the rights of citizens who want to appeal a case from district court to circuit court," explained attorney Jeff Jahr, secretary-treasurer of the Suburban Bar Association.

Attorneys attending the session received a checklist of appeals and the proper procedure in handling them.

The attorney's association, which covers most of western Wayne County except larger cities, meets the second Wednesday of each month at Howard's Townhouse.

Jahr, an attorney with the firm of Tinkham, Snyder and MacDonald in Wayne, urges all attorneys in the area to call him at 728-8700 for information about the Suburban Bar Association.

WANTED! SONS OF MEN

A great offence has been committed against God, when one does not believe what He has promised! Do you know God's Promises? Do you know that God has magnified His Word, the Bible above all His Name?
The Apostle Peter wrote, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God." There is a great need for, and advantage in, obeying this injunction. We live in a day when men speak in a style very different from "the oracles of God".
A conceited philosophy on one hand, and an utterly impoverished theology on the other, have given the world a colorless language, destitute of all truthful elements. The Spirit of God calls the sons of men to the Truth provided in "the oracles of God".

Dog Tag Reminder

SUMPTER--Sumpter Township will not have a dog vaccination clinic this year, Robert Marble, township clerk announced.

Reason given by Marble is that the township has limited facilities and to prevent the spreading of canine disease.

He urges all township dog owners to get their dogs vaccinated at their veterinarian and then obtain the necessary license at the Sumpter township hall.

Licenses expired the last day of February, 1970. License fees are: $1.50 for males and unsexed dogs, $2.50 for females.

Dogs that are not licensed by March 1 will cost owners double fees as provided for in the Dog Ordinance, Marble said.

HCMA Offers Belle Isle 'Redevelopment Plan'

"This is a grand opportunity for all units of government, Federal, State, County, City and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Park system to demonstrate to the people an intelligent analysis and solution to a perplexing problem — a regional park facility for the substantial numbers of citizens who depend solely on public transportation for their recreational needs."

The above statement was made by William E. Kreger, Wayne County's representative on the HCMA Board of Commissioners concerning the Redevelopment Plan for Belle Isle Park which was presented last week to the Detroit Common Council.

The Council said they were very impressed with the "redevelopment plan" and agreed to appoint a committee to investigate the legal, financial, management and operational considerations of this project, which would include an appointee of Mayor Roman S. Gribbs, parks and recreation, planning and other City of Detroit departmental representatives plus the staff of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The presentation was made by David O. Laidlaw, director of the HCMA which has eight parks serving the citizens of Wayne, Livingston, Macomb, Oakland and Washtenaw counties.

Many Wayne County residents are frequent visitors to such well-known Metropolitan Parks as Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville; Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica and Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens.

The purpose of the presentation was to determine if the Council was interested in the possibility of the Authority redeveloping and operating Belle Isle.

If Belle Isle were transferred to the Authority, it would also require a vote of the people in the City of Detroit.

Laidlaw said, "The Belle Isle Redevelopment Plan, as envisioned by the Authority might well cost 40 million dollars or more. Thus, the HCMA would have to investigate additional sources of funding since the present tax revenue is already committed to its present eight parks and construction of new ones already started.

A new HCMA park opening early this summer is Willow Metropolitan Park, covering 1,500 acres between New Boston and Flatrock which is expected to see only limited use since development of this site is expected to continue for the next several years.

The Authority, since it was sanctioned by the Michigan State Legislature in 1939 and approved by the vote of the people in the five counties in 1940, is supported by a tax of not more than one-quarter (1/4) mill upon each dollar of assessed value of the property of the five-county region.

Presently, the Authority is provided with 4.6 million dollars per year in tax revenues, with $2.7 million dollars contributed by Wayne County. Tax revenues from the other counties are: Oakland — $1,006,540; Macomb — $609,000; Washtenaw — $276,995; and Livingston — $56,000, plus about $800,000 is revenue from park operations.

The Council also expressed the belief that Belle Isle Park is not just a resource of Detroit, but also of the region and the State of Michigan.

Kurt R. Keydel, appointed to the HCMA Board by the Governor and serving as a representative-at-large, pointed out that the 1/4 mill tax base of the Authority is a concept established over 25 years ago and is perhaps unrealistic in terms of the increased costs of land, construction of new facilities, and operating and maintaining parks under today's conditions.

"Therefore, increased funding might be needed, necessary to meet the increased recreational demand for both present and future Metropolitan Parks, not only Belle Isle", remarked Keydel.

Community College Extends Registration In UTP Course

DETROIT—Wayne County Community College has pushed back the registration deadline on an Urban Technology Program geared to provide technical know-how to community organizations, civic groups and block clubs around the County.

Art Neal, Director of the Urban Technology Program, reports registration is open until the end of February and classes will continue until the end of June.

Neal, a Detroit urban consultant, said the curriculum for the program grew out of needs expressed by members of various community groups during WC3's first semester.

The Urban Technology Program, which is part of the school's Vocational and Technical Educational Division, is designed to provide laymen with the technical background to deal with federal, state and local agencies, said Neal.

"Another function of the program," he said, "is to train paraprofessional personnel to work with these organizations."

Full college credit which is transferable to any university in the state or applicable towards a two-year degree from WC3 will be granted for course work, Neal said.

Typical of the four urban technology courses offered this semester is a class in the "housing development process." According to Neal the course is designed to "expose the students to the physical and economic processes for housing development — including the various funding grants available and the restrictive guidelines" placed on housing construction by federal and local agencies.

The courses will be offered at all 26 WC3 centers pending enrollment. Registration is at the college's central office located at 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

WC3's open door admission policy which allows anyone 19 or over to enroll applies to the Urban Technology Program. Students under 19 must have a high school diploma or if they are still in high school, must have written permission from their principal and parents.

Neal said tuition for each course is $27 with "special aid available for hardship cases."

Belleville Yields WW Swim Throne

Chet Meyer, Susterka Capture Gold Medals

Dearborn Heights Annapolis, a newcomer to the area swim domain, dethroned Belleville Saturday as the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving king.

Fielding its first flock of seniors, Annapolis overwhelmed the eight-school field to capture its second major swimming invitational in as many weeks.

Last week coach David Keddie's Cougars dominated the Garden City East Invitational.

Annapolis, picking up four first places—two from its outstanding junior, Pete Zuk—maintained a safe margin throughout the entire meet to become the new swim ruler in the area.

The Cougars accumulated a total of 74 points to stop Belleville which moved down a notch to second with 57. Cherry Hill finished third (38) and Wayne a close fourth (34) while Garden City East was fifth (26).

Trailing in order were: Garden City West (24), Livonia Franklin (20); John Glenn (13) and Inkster.

Seven new invitational records were set, two of them by Zuk.

Zuk, ranked one of the best prep swim prospects in the state this season, found the going relatively easy in the 200 yard freestyle where he finished first, well ahead of Belleville's Brad Susterka.

The Dearborn Heights' tanker plowed through the waters at the record pace of 1:54.45. Susterka touched in at 2:00.41, nosing Annapolis John Viger who had a 2:01.57 for third place.

Zuk returned to the pool for the 100 yard butterfly where he again established a record when he pulled up in 57.45, beating Garden City West's Jim Webley to the finish.

Webley settled for a silver medal. His team was 58.64. John Glenn's Dave Moellering was third with a 1:00.81 clocking.

Belleville's senior freestyle Chet Meyer duplicated Zuk's double gold medal

By Tom Mooradian

In The Swim

Now and then, you find yourself wondering how you got yourself in a situation that you thought you would never get into. And one of those uncomfortable situations occurred Saturday night at the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Meet, which is co-sponsored by this newspaper, and held this year at the Wayne Memorial High pool.

You laugh at David Keddie when earlier in the year he says "that we'll be in contention if we compete in the meet."

You laugh because you know that Annapolis is a newly constructed high school in Dearborn Heights with only a three year history. You also know that you don't develop swimmers in three years who can beat established schools.

You think: O.K. buster. You want in. Then, bring along your swimmers and let's see what you can do.

They did it, all-right!

Annapolis won it, running away. And with swimmers like Pete Zuk, who's only a junior and who also set a pair of records in hauling away two gold medals, and Jim Caldwell, a sophomore who looks even better than the promising junior—Annapolis' swimming future is bright—very bright.

How did you do it?'' I asked coach Keddie after they dragged the pool to get him up from his "victory swim."

"Do what?" he asked naively.

"How can you put together a team, swim in here, take first place and our beautiful medals and trophies and head back to Dearborn Heights?"

The good-looking coach pleaded innocent to the charge that he was responsible for the outstanding team. And modestly placed the blame on Dearborn Heights' junior high school program.

"We have a good system in the city and our junior high school coaches are as good, if not better than some of those in high school, and we feed off their fat!" Keddie said.

Junior high swim program, huh? Sounds like something we can all use in these parts.

The Long & Short Of It

In that packed gallery, we also bumped into former Wayne Memorial head swim coach Dick Helppie who left the Zebras last year to teach at Roosevelt Elementary.

Helppie, who can't keep away from the pool, commented that "I've never seen this gallery packed as it is tonight. It's this type of crowd and competition we need more of.

"Swimmers, like other athletes and actors, like to perform in front of an audience and when you have an empty gallery the performances are bound to be affected."

Couldn't help but feel sorry for Garden City East and coach Val Daugherty. Heard at the side of the pool that, "if the kids he booted off the team would have competed, they, and not Annapolis, would have been the WW champ."

Apparently, Val, who also is a rookie coach this season taking over from Kirt Winn (He's in Spain with his family), booted the boys for "long hair."

"The kids didn't want to get haircuts and I told them that there is no place on our team for swimmers with long hair," said coach Daugherty, "and we got rid of them."

Garden City West coach George Hanosh feels that he was "robbed by a swim ref" last week.

TRYING TO SNEAK BY–Coming along the sidelines is Romulus forward Charles Johnican (20) who's awaiting for Nate Davis (50) to put a "block" on Rouge's Ken Russaw (partially seen in dark jersey). Johnican collected 15 points in an unsuccessful attempt to stop the Class B state power.

A couple of seasons ago when Belleville head cage coach Allen Gates was busy guiding Allen Park javees to an undefeated season and had padded his winning streak to 15, he ran into Dick Bearup who also was coaching Plymouth's junior varsity team at the time.

Bearup spoiled Gates' record and his hopes for a perfect year by whipping Gates' team.

And, you can bet that when the two arch rivals, who are now head coaches, meet Friday night at Plymouth, Gates will try to return the "favor."

Plymouth needs the victory over Belleville to insure at least half of the Suburban Six Conference basketball title. The Rocks share the lead with Bentley presently.

Belleville, meanwhile, moved out of the cellar with an impressive 67-64 victory over Trenton Friday night. That win, the Tigers' second of the league campaign, got them into a two-way tie with Redford Union for fifth.

Jim Singleton's free throw and a tapin by Joe Claybron broke up the close game for Belleville against Trenton's Trojans. Up to that point, it was a tug-of-war.

Trenton managed to work its way to a 13-12 first quarter lead, but the Tigers retaliated with Garrade Pettus who scored 10 of his 22 points in the first half to keep the Belleville quintet in the game.

Belleville carved out a 29-26 advantage at halftime. The Tigers stayed in front 49-45 for three quarters, setting the stage for a dramatic finish.

The lead see-sawed back and forth the last quarter when Singleton, with less than a minute to go, was awarded two free throws. Claybron, hampered with personal fouls most of the game, returned into the lineup. And, after Singleton sank the first of two, he missed the second. Claybron got the rebound and flipped it into the nets to clinch it.

Pettus, who hit on eight from the field and six free throws for 22 points, was the game's leading scorer. Also in two figures for the Tigers were Bob Lytle and Rick Mussehl who had 11 apiece.

Mussehl was also effective in stopping Jim Grace, one of the league's leading scorers. Grace finished with 14 points, collecting six of those while Mussehl was guarding him.

The Tigers will have to improve at the free throw line however if they're going to help Gates settle with Bearup this week. They only made 17 of 30 against Trenton.

Wayne Is Mat Champ

In what turned out to be more a dual meet than a state Class A District Wrestling Tournament, Wayne Memorial emerged with more points than arch-rivals, John Glenn, to capture the district championship at Romulus Saturday night.

Wayne also had the edge in individual champions over Glenn, 4-3.

Coach Don Haney's Zebras picked up 102 points to coach Bob Lusk Rockets' 91 and received gold medals from Rick Brooker (98); Jim Tinsley (107); Pete Londeau (137) and Gary Root (155).

Glenn's Ken Jones (123); Laymon McKilley (145); Charlie Young (130) represented the Rockets in the winning circle.

Garden City West, which finished sixth in the eight-team district had two first place efforts from Rick Stewart (115) and heavyweight Essa Sackllah.

Dearborn Heights' Crestwood, with two gold medalists, and Romulus, with one, rounded out the first places.

Tim Wilkes was the winner for Crestwood in the 175 pound class and teammate Bob Bashawarty [illegible] gold in the 185.

Coach Jim Stallings' protege, Russ Reaume, won Romulus' lone gold medal, emerging on top of the 165 pound class.

In the 98-pound class Brooker defeated John Glenn grappler, Larry Sanders, 12-5 while teammate Tinsley floored Glenn's Tom Neal in 1:10 of the first period to capture his first place medal.

West's Stewart kept up his fine performance as he outwrestled Romulus' Greg Stephens for the 115-pound title. He decisioned Stephens 8-4 for his 32nd victory—69 over-all.

Glenn's Jones had little difficulty with Crestwood finalist, Jerry Fohmer, and disposed of him 7-0 and his teammate Young fought off Greg Harland, 3-2, who provided the only surprise of the meet.

Harland, representing Southgate went into the district with a 5-2 record.

Londeau didn't have to wrestle in the finals and won on a forfeit when Crestwood's Dale Duhl didn't make it to the mats in the 137-pound class. Duhl suffered a shoulder separation after winning in the semi-finals.

In one of the best-fought matches, Glenn's McLilley and Wayne's Bob Mercado battled to a 4-4 tie and the match went into overtime where the Rocket matman outwrestled his foe, 5-1 to earn the 145-pound class honors.

Huron Gets Another Crack At Grosse Ile

Groose Ile, one of two basketball teams to beat Huron this season, will be in town Friday night and coach Dave Court's Chiefs -you-can bet-will be out to even up the score!

"They're a fine ball club with plenty of height," said coach Court discussing Friday's game which also wraps up the Huron League season. "But our boys, partially because of the loss, are fired up about this one and they're out to settle the score with them."

The other reason-every consecutive victory means a new record for the Chiefs. They hung on last Tuesday to beat Hamtramck, 89-80 to post their sixth straight win-the new school record.

The Cosmos made the Chiefs sweat it out the final half before surrendering.

Huron, with forward Don Mittlestat pouring in nine of his 21 points in the first quarter, leaped upon its guests 25-12, Hamtramck cut the margin to 42-39 at intermission as its newly found scoring power, Bill Nahorodny, connected for 16 of his points in the second period.

Nahorodny was not a starter until midway in the season.

With the lead exchanging hands several times in the third quarter, Huron managed to stay ahead 62-61. Center Rick Wasilewski sewed it up with a 11-point four quarter performance.

Huron also got help at the foul line, making 27 of 33 opportunities.

Though Wasilewski and Mittlestat teamed up Butch Suemnick to provide the Chiefs with enough scoring power to win, it was, however, Randy Gorham's ability to slip by Hamtramck's defense that caused the Cosmos to fall.

Romulus Shows Rouge It's No Cage Pushover

Coach Lofton Greene and Rouge's Panthers didn't need any reminder that Romulus isn't a pushover on any basketball court. But Romulus and coach Al Duva gave them one anyway Friday night.

Romulus had the Panthers on the run most of the night before the Eagles gave in to the top-ranked Class B team in the state, 65-62.

"I think it shows just how tough we can be when we want to," said Romulus veteran cage coach Al Duva. "Sure we haven't been winning in the league, but no one can really say what will happen in our league on any given night."

On Friday night however, Romulus was a couple of minutes away from handing the defending league champs their first loss in the conference.

With less than 15 seconds to go and Rouge ahead 63-62, Romulus' Charles Johnican stole the ball and drove in for a layup which rattled the rim but decided on going the wrong way for the Eagles.

That saved Rouge for the upset.

The hosts dominated the first half thanks to excellent shooting from Frank Nesbit and Roy Szyndlar and excellent rebounding by Johnican.

Nesbit and Szyndlar shot the Romulus quintet out in front 13-11 in the first quarter and helped the Eagles to a 34-27 halftime advantage.

Both had 10 points apiece in the opening half.

Rouge, who had to go it without pivotman Duane Johnson most of the second quarter because of excessive fouls, came back to rule the third quarter 20-7 to move out in front 47-41 for three periods.

Johnican started the Eagles' comeback as he sank the first basket of the last quarter and immediately picked up a pair of free throws to slash the Panther lead to 47-45.

Then, Romulus' Don Halimon, looking better with

THE WAY TO GO–With a Rouge guard closing in on him, Romulus' Frank Nesbit (with ball) seeks a path to the Panther basket. Nesbit and his teammates hit a slump in the third quarter after leading the first two and surrendered a Twin Valley decision, 65-62, to the top rated Class B power.

performance, cleaning up in the 50 yard and the 100 yard freestyle events.

Meyer, an All-Area selection for the past two years, breezed in before Annapolis sophomore Jim Caldwell, to take a first in the 50 with a 24.09.

Caldwell finished with a 24.26 to earn a silver medal, nipping Paul Joseph, of Garden City West on a judge's decision.

In the 100 yard freestyle, it was a race between Meyer and Joseph and the Belleville tanker won with a 51.88 performance. Joseph had a 53.74.

Coach Bill Brandell's Tigers also received first place performances from the Susterka brothers Barry and Brad.

Barry teamed with Eric Rice to provide their team a 1-2 on the diving boards. Susterka established a new meet record when he finished at top of the field with 347.65 points. Rice picked up the silver medal, accumulating a total of 336.15 points.

Wayne Memorial's Dan Waugh got the bronze medal for 322.90 points.

Brad Susterka pulled away from his teammate Kirk Cullin to turn the 400-yard freestyle race into a one-man show. He finished with a 4:19.68 clocking, beating Cullin who registered a 4:24.88. Close on Cullin's heels was Cherry Hill tanker Pat Lacroix, who was nipped by one tenth of a second and settled for third.

Wayne Memorial was represented in the winning circle by Fred Enot and Paul Nicholls.

Enot fought a close race with Cherry Hill's Bob Dahlman for the gold medal in the 100 yard backstroke and emerged the victor when he showed up at the finish line with a 1:01.40 clocking.

Dahlman was a couple of strokes behind with a 1:02.48 touching in just before Franklin's Tom Herbert (1:02.79).

Nicholls, last year's All-Area 100-yard breaststroke selection, continued to rule the field as he churned a 1:06.78 to capture the gold medal in that event. He finished ahead of Cherry Hill's Tim Ranval (1:07.03).

One of the most exciting events of the meet was the opening 200 yard medley relay where four teams finished nearly one-tenth of a second apart from each other.

The decision and the gold medal, however, went to Garden City East's foursome who was clocked at 1:52.04. They were given the nod over Cherry Hill (1:52.24), Annapolis (1:52.34) and Garden City West (1:52.35).

East swam Craig Kobylka, Craig DeChenes, Jim Stein and Al Teague.

And in the finale—Annapolis' Chuck Lindsey, Caldwell, Laverdier and Marchyok finished first with a record-setting 3:39.38. They beat second place Belleville who carded a 3:41.81.

The meet, in its seventh year, is co sponsored by the Associated Newspapers, a division of the Panax Corporation.

The winners of each of the 11 events were presented gold medals while second and third place finishers were awarded silver and bronze medals, respectively.

Those who wound up in the fourth through sixth were given ribbons.

A team trophy went to the winner and its coach. There was also a runnerup trophy.

"I have to say that the swimmers in this area have arrived," said Bill Elliott, athletic director of Wayne Memorial, the host school. He also served as meet [illegible] competition in the 155-finals. Root slipped by on a 4-3 decision with two seconds to go in the match.

Reaume, a standout all year long for Romulus, nipped Wayne's Randy Clayborn, 8-7, to win the 165-first place medal.

Wilkes wasted little time with finalist David Brown, pinning the Romulus grappler in 2:31, but Bashawaty found the going rough with Wayne's Tom Nelson whom he turned back, 3-2, in the 185-pound class.

West's Sackllah proved to be the top heavyweight in the district as the Tiger grappler outwrestled Glenn's Sam Leo, 3-0. The third place medal went to Romulus' Tim Sypula who beat Wayne's Richard Todd on a second period pin.

For those who finished first or second in the district, the best is yet to come. They'll participate for regional honors on Saturday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High.

Sackllah, coached by Dean Shipman, drew a bye in the first round and advanced to the semi-finals where he clashed with Romulus' Sypula whom he pinned in 3:26 of the second period.

That pin for Essa was No. 23 which ties the national record.

The West grappler has won 25 matches this year and has accumulated 55 victories on falls over a span of three seasons which also could be a record.

"I was really happy at the way our boys wrestled in the finals," said rookie coach Haney "If Brooker and Tinsley would have failed in their weight categories, we would not have finished on top.

"But our boys, all of them, came through," he added. "It was a team victory."

Wayne and John Glenn will take a total of 13 wrestlers to the regionals—the biggest aggregation to qualify from the two schools in recent years.

each passing week, drilled in a jumper to tie up the score at 47-47. There was still (6:21) plenty of time in the game.

Malcolm Moulton broke the knot to swing the lead over to the Panthers but, again, Johnican tied up the game with a corner shot. Two successive Rouge baskets—from Ken Russaw and Carlton Reeves shoved the visiting Rouge team out ahead, 53-59.

Russaw and Moulton connected for baskets to fire up their team and it appeared that the defending champs were on their way, but a late rally, aided by baskets from Nesbit, Johnican and Szyndlar, carried the Eagles within a point of catching up. They never made it, however.

Johnican, after scoring only three points in the first half, recovered in time to lead his team with 15 points while Halimon added 14 and Nesbit and Szyndlar each had 12 points.

Davis made his return to the lineup with some fine assists and nine points. He showed that he definitely hasn't lost his touch on the court.

Moulton wound up as the game's leading scorer. He had 21. Johnson, Rouge's top rebounder and a reliable two-figure man, ended up with 11 as did Al Boswell. Russaw collected 11 points.

Romulus capitalized on 14 of its 26 free throws.

Gorham almost single-handedly broke Hamtramck's full court press, whizzing by guards and passing off to teammates who got easy layup shots.

Wasilewski again claimed the game's scoring honors. He drilled in 13 points and four free throws for 30 points. He also hauled down 19 rebounds. Mittlestat pulled down 15 rebounds and chipped in 21 points, while Suemnick and Joel Richert were in double figures with 19 and 11 points, respectively.

Nahorodny wound up as the Cosmos' leading scorer with 25 points. Teammates Johnny Moore and Harry Richards accounted for 15 and 12 points, respectively.

Richards, a 6-5 forward-pivotman, has been eligible to play for the past two games, sitting out the first part of the season after transferring.

Coach Court feels that the Cosmos will be a serious threat in the race for the Class B championship.

The highway robbery occurred via a disqualification in a dual meet at Crestwood when swimmer Paul Joseph was clocked in 23.5 seconds for the 50 yard freestyle and disqualified.

The judge ruled that Paul "missed the wall in making the turn."

"There's no way, no way possible," reiterated coach Hanosh, "that a swimmer could miss the wall and finish with a 23.5 clocking in the 50. Even Indiana University star Mark Spitz couldn't have done it that fast without the wall.

"And this judge should have raised his hand when he saw the infraction, instead he came over to Joseph at the end of the event and asks him, "You didn't touch the wall, did you?"

Hanosh poured into "aquanautics" to explain the unorthodox situation which ended with a Crestwood victory, giving West little hope of retaining the Tri-River crown. (Cherry Hill, with only one loss, leads the league. The defending champ has already dropped four decisions.)

He also explained how it is impossible to swim a 23.5 in the 50 yard freestyle without touching the wall. "If you miss on the turn your body loses the momentum and you have to start up almost from a dead start and you'll lose time and you'd never make it that fast.

It sounded like a bit of Casey Stengal to me.

But it could sound very logical if the Michigan High School Athletic Department heard about it.

Li'l Abner at Glenn--- The Musical's Last Stand!

WESTLAND—High School musical stage productions have fallen on hard times it seems.

John Glenn High School's production of L'il Abner, scheduled for March 13—15 at Wayne Memorial High School auditorium may be the schools' last. Wayne Memorial has already abandoned musicals, Wayne Community School District coordinator of instrumental music Dave Wickham says.

"Unless we can build up some interest in the musicals, there doesn's seem to be much hope for them,' Wickham says,"The community doesn't support the programs without a lot of prodding."

Wickham favors the musical productions because they allow a large number of students to become involved. Those actually on stage, providing the music in the orchestra pit, or pulling strings behind the scenes can take part in a production like "L'il Abner."

Says Wickham, "I don't know what better entertainment this community could come out and support, but entertainment of their own local schools.

"These are professional broadway musicals given by very professional high school students who have put in well over 100 difficult, painstaking hours of their time to bring enjoyment to the community.

"They get the fantastic educational experience of performing in a show," Wickham adds, "But the public just hasn't been supporting it."

Wickham says the lack of substantial audiences to see the productions of the past few years, and the investment of money that goes into each production before staging, has caused the cancellation of musicals in the Wayne district after this year.

Wayne Memorial did not schedule a play this year, and Glenn has none scheduled for next year.

While the productions may seem to be only "high school plays," to some of the public, Wickham stands by the talents of the students who take part in the musicals. "People forget it costs up to one thousand dollars before you even get started," Wickham says,"Performance rights may be secured, orchestrations rented than not to play to a full house every night is disheartening."

What reward will residents receive if they see "Li'l Abner?"

"A real show," Wickham says.

"We keep talking about the 'good' that students can do," he adds, "Well, these kids are ready to give the community a real show, and we need the community support. If we can get the people away from their homes for an evening, they'll see the 'real show' we've promised."

Tickets for the musical can be purchased from any cast member, at John Glenn on Marquette, west of Wayne Road in Westland, or by calling the school, 728—1800.

The production is a musical stage version of the Al Capp cartoon strip, "Li'l Abner," about the classic hillbilly society of Dogpatch, USA. Many of Capp's favorite cartoon characters come to life in the play, which enjoyed a successful Broadway run some years ago, and was also recreated for the screen.

PIT PARTICIPATION--Members of the John Glenn High School Orchestra, who will be in the orchestra pit for the upcoming production, "L'il Abner," were in full dress for opening day ticket sales recently at Glenn. Orchestra members for the March 13-15 production are, from left, Roger Arnett, cellist; Rita Urbaniak, violin; Barb Smith, horn, and Lynda Fox, flute. Tickets may be pruchased at the school, from cast members, or by calling 728-1800.

Neighborhood Centers Eyed For Recreation

BY ROSEMARY WOLOCK

INKSTER--A pilot program that could mean a whole new approach to recreation programming in Inkster is being held out at McNair School.

It's called the neighborhood recreation program.

"A neighborhood recreation center is a school or facility that would house the entire recreation program for that area," said Booker Dozier of the Inkster Recreation Department.

Currently city recreation programs are housed in approximately 18 schools and other facilities throughout Inkster, each with at least one two- hour program.

If the city could limit recreation programming to one centralized facility in each area, some money could be saved. In addition, Dozier said this type of program could bring an improvement in recreation planning.

The participants at each center could plan their own programs and set their own hours. "Each area could actually 'do their own thing' as the kids say," Dozier said.

The neighborhood recreation center program went into effect at McNair Jan. 26. The response has been good. "Actually we have too many people," Dozier said.

A drop-in center operates at the school from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m., Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. In addition there is an ongoing dance class for adults and, for youths seven to eighteen years of age, there are table games, arts and crafts and movies.

If the McNair program works out well, four other neighborhood recreation centers are planned. These include Tomlinson School, where youngsters from seven years through junior high school age would be served.

In the Denby Terrace-Douglass School area and in the LeMoyne Gardens-Woodson School area, the Denby and LeMoyne recreation buildings would be used for passive recreational activities, table games and dances.

The Douglass and Woodson gyms would be used for the more active programming such as basketball or kickball.

Fellrath Junior High would serve elementary junior high and high school students of that area. This building already houses tap and ballet and charm classes.

No current plans are being made to establish neighborhood recreation centers north of Michigan Ave. The current setup of recreational programs will continue in the schools there.

"Setting up neighborhood centers north of Michigan Ave. will present a geographical problem since the available facilities are so spread out," Dozier said.

Romulus Opposes Tax Hike

ROMULUS—A proposed increase in Detroit's income tax on non-residents income met with official opposition from the township board.

The proposed increase on non-residents income is three-quarters of one percent.

In a resolution approved (Feb 18) by Romulus trustees and opposing the proposed hike, the township board stated:

"A large segment of the working community residing in Romulus is employed in Detroit. We registered their formal opposition to the proposed plan to raise the non-resident income tax."

Copies of the resolution has been sent to the governor and to each member of the state legislature whose district includes any or all of Romulus Township and to all cities and townships in Michigan.

Senior Citizens Get Aid

State Representative Richard A. Young (D-Dearborn Heights) today urged senior citizens to check with local assessing officials before March 3 to see if they qualify for expanded homestead tax exemption coverage.

"The Legislature has recently passed a bill completely wiping out the property value limit previously used for exemption qualification," Young said. "In the same bill we increased the income limit from $5,000 to $6,000.

"These changes will mean that many more senior citizens may now be able to qualify for the homestead tax exemption of $2,500 of state equalized value.

Representative Young said that the new exemptions do not apply to the year 1969. However, the new provisions do apply to the entire 1970 calendar year, so the first two months of this year will come under the new regulations.

"This is a measure to help elderly, fixed-income persons to beat inflation," Young said. "Inflationary property values and higher property taxes are practically confiscating the property of many older people. Since their incomes don't rise with general inflation, we must expand exemptions to protect the homes for which they've worked a lifetime.

"Let me say again," said Representative Young, "that senior citizens have only until the first Tuesday in March to apply for the expanded coverage.

The Grass Is Greener – Governmentally

It is ironic how true is the old adage, "The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence."

Behind the movement for review of the city charter in Westland is a substantial segment of opinion that wants drastic change of the city's governing document. Key change would be a switch from the strong mayor form of government to a city manager form.

Basically, the movement for city manager goverment in Westland is backed by those who believed city manager goverment was a better answer in the first place. It is also backed by the political outs, who see the city manager idea as a good club to use against current office holders.

Most arguments against switching to city manager government are based on the fact that Westland's current charter has been in operation less than four years, and ought to be given a chance to prove itself before it is greatly rewritten.

Obviously, there is little desire at City Hall to upset the governmental apple cart with another round of political activity, no matter who would like to gain by it.

In Inkster, however, they obviously haven't heard about the Westland troubles.

Some residents in Inkster have succeeded in mounting a discussion of switching the city's government from a city manager to a strong mayor form. The fact that a city election is in full swing in Inkster has probably inflated the sentiment against city manager government, however.

Proponents of strong mayor government in Inkster have a variety of motivations. Some would like to gain more complete control of the government of the city, from a political standpoint. A city manager government doesn't adapt itself well to a political atmosphere.

Some of the proponents would probably like to run the city themselves, suggesting that they might have some ideas about how the city is functioning, and what should be changed.

Still others bear a grudge against the departing city manager, Ralph DeSantis. Apparently, this has jaded their views of city manager government in general.

In Wayne, an attempt to make the current city manager government an issue in the recent primary election was soundly rejected at the polls. There appears to be little sentiment for switching to strong mayor government there.

At any rate, the experience of all these cities must demonstrate one thing: the movements to change horses now are almost certainly politically based.

Actions Speak Louder Than Road Promises

Voters of western Wayne County will elect representatives to the County Board of Supervisors this year.

Happily, the election gives the voters a chance to exercise some clout where it counts to get more County funds moving in a westerly direction for the improvement of area roads.

A healthy threat seems appropriate at the present time, since little road building activity has been observed. Hopefully, the summer that will be upon us in a few months will result in road improvements somewhere in the area.

The arguments have all been heard from those who would defend County inaction on the basis of lack of funds. No matter how you look at it, some roads, somewhere, were improved in Wayne County this year. Why not western Wayne?

A piece of the action is what western Wayne residents want to see now. Driving conditions are reaching intolerable new records for inconvenience and danger.

We propose that the County Board of Supervisors do everything possible this year to move local road projects higher on the list of priorities. Voters will not be content with another round of promises, or further reports of future dates for the beginning of construction.

The situation has reached the point where action is indeed in order. We urge all western Wayne citizens to keep a wary eye on the County Board and the activities of the Road Commission charged with road upkeep and improvement.

Then, act accordingly.

A Painful Picking

By Dick McKnight

The election of Mayor Gene McKinney in Westland, and the appointment of Councilman Virgil Gagnon as the new city clerk, opened a political Pandora's box that left the politicians reeling.

As a result, the city council is entering round three of the game of musical jobs. When McKinney was elected Mayor, his seat on the city council was left vacant. Similarly, when Gagnon was appointed city clerk, his council seat was vacated.

Russell Tuttle was eventually named to fill the remainder of McKinney's term — almost two years. The tussle over filling that vacancy is history now, but it was a miserable affair for those involved. Tuttle was finally approved by a 5-1 vote, on a motion that almost died for lack of a second.

The choice of a city clerk seemed to be even more difficult. Mrs. Marian McWilliams, the retiring clerk, had announced her intentions to leave almost a year before the final decision was made to replace her. It was, as one wag put it, more than reasonable notice.

Testing procedures aimed at grading the candidates for city clerk were a relative disaster. Almost none of the candidates scored very well. In the end, only three candidates were considered: an oil company representative, a Livonia office manager and Councilman Gagnon.

It was ironic that what seemed most unfavorable for Gagnon — his political role in the City — later became a point in his favor. The council chose someone they knew over two persons they did not know.

Now, of course, the council has created an entirely new problem — a Gagnon vacancy that must be filled. The first vacancy could be blamed on McKinney for getting elected. This vacancy is entirely the council's doing.

The Gagnon vacancy is a massive political plan. Almost four years remain of Gagnon's term, and the person named to fill the post will not have to run for re-election until 1973. By the time the next election for that seat comes, most of the voters will have forgotten that the person holding the seat was appointed and not elected.

One contender is Paul Tavana, the man considered strongest behind Tuttle at the time of the last vacancy hassle. He has been content to take a sidelines position in the past, and has helped many politicians get elected. He is considered competent and fair.

William Borrusch, the former head of the Zoning Board of Appeals and the Democratic party organization, is considered contender. Borrusch is known for his hard work, but his convictions have earned him some enemies. He is experienced, and considered well qualified.

Former Mayor Thomas H. Brown has been mentioned, although it is not likely that he could be named with the current council makeup. Most of the current council members opposed Brown in the last election.

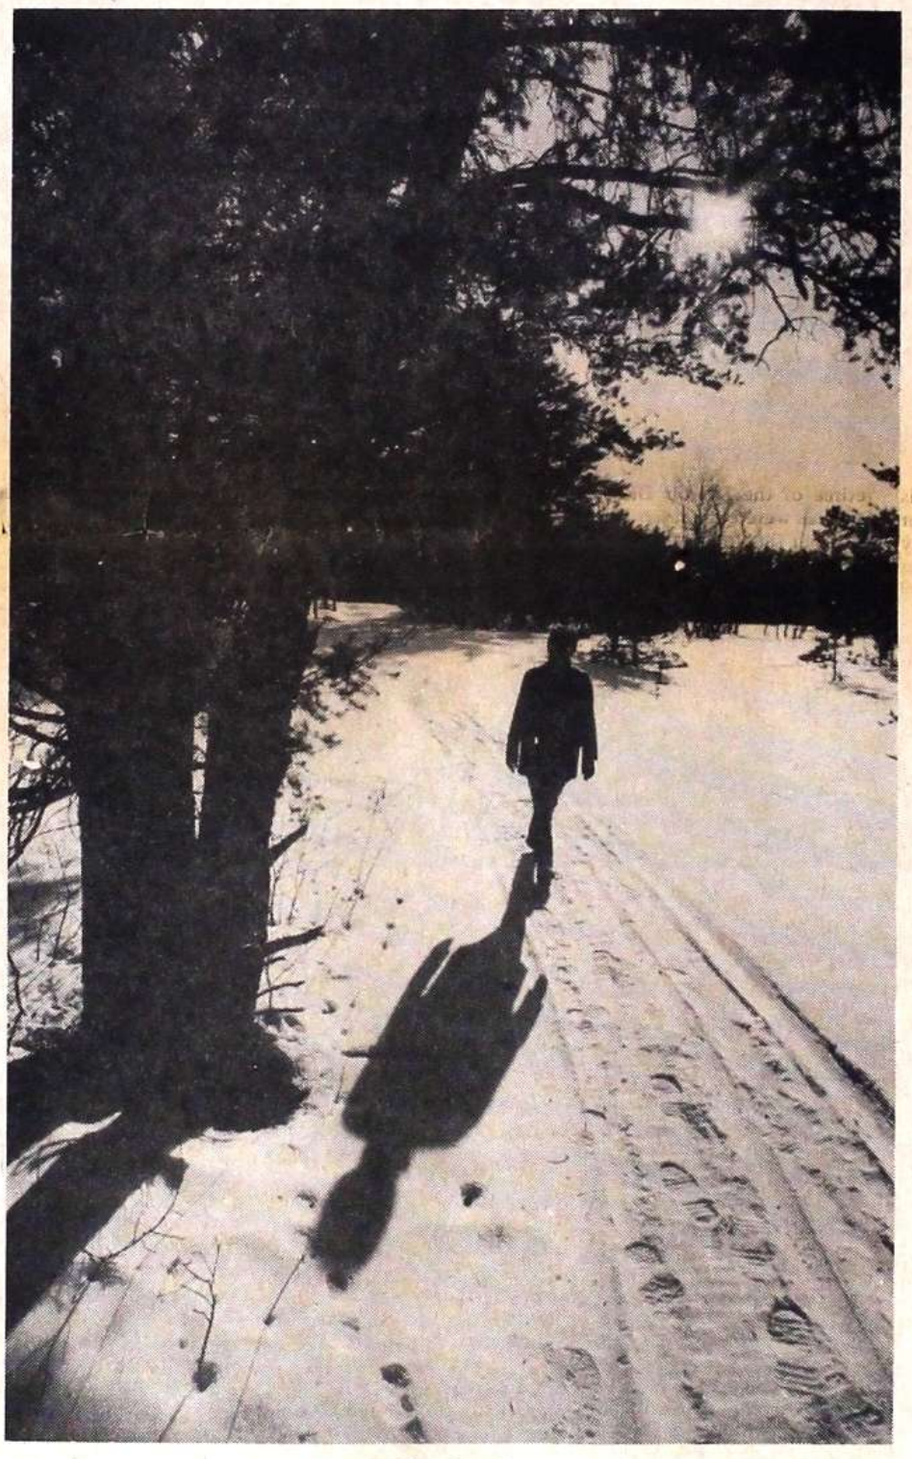

Equally unlikely, but mentioned, is the appointment of former Councilman Robert Wagner. Wagner, a Republican, has friends on the council, but suffers from his affiliations, most councilmen say privately.

The interlocking relationships of all these men and the current council members could easily result in the worst agonizing over a decision to date.

All indications are that the new Councilman will be well prepared, qualified and competent, but the choice is likely to be painful.

Lift Up Your Head

A Very Human Farewell

By Rosemary Wolock

Though detractors have often declared that Ralph DeSantis, Inkster tough-minded city-manager, doesn't have a friend, a hundred well-wishers exploded that myth at the Westwood Inn last week.

It wasn't the typical testimonial for an outgoing executive. There had been no massive promotion and no pushing of tickets so there were no phony displays of friendship.

Those who liked Ralph DeSantis came; those who didn't like him stayed away. Conspicuous by their absence, for instance, were a councilman and one department head. But it was Ralph DeSantis' night and those who weren't friends of his weren't welcome anyway.

With such a congenial group it wasn't surprising that DeSantis got a good "roasting." Fire Chief Kenneth Roberts presided over the affair as "roastmaster" and DeSantis wasn't his only target.

Gag gifts to the outgoing city manager included the number one dog license "for the top dog in Inkster" and a license to operate a burlesque show in his home on Sunningdale.

The police department awarded him with a certificate from the University of Everything which declared him qualified to run every city department, the implication being that DeSantis had done just that during his three and a half year tenure.

In addition there were more serious gifts. Mayor Leonard Daksiewicz presented him with an attache case from the city council recalling that the first time he saw DeSantis he didn't think the little guy had enough strength to carry his own briefcase.

City employes and other friends gave DeSantis a handsome rocking chair and presented his wife with a portable radio. The department heads gave him a chain-operated clock, a replica of an Early American model.

The honoree was the same man who was often called a dictator, who negotiated contracts with a tight fist around the city moneybags and who always looked so grim at council meetings.

Yet that night he showed another, more human side by smiling and laughing often in appreciation of jokes which were aimed at him.

At the end of the farewell party, which Chief Roberts jokingly said "we've been waiting three and a half years for", DeSantis stood to say a few words.

"I've been asked what I felt my greatest accomplishment is," he said. But he didn't cite roads paved, buildings built or a balanced budget. "I think it's the friends I've made," he said.

Those friends will miss him

Much Ado About Little

By Len Colby

The much ado about relatively little (the Straley case) is now over and, although no one could predict the result of the investigation "laid" before the county prosecutor, it surprises few that Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan found no basis for action against Plymouth Police Chief Herb Straley.

Democracy, after all, allows any or all of us to whoop and holler — no matter how far-fetched our prejudices.

One of the most significant points in this saga was a statement by the prosecutor that the investigation was prompted by a great volume of publicity and the request of two prominent citizens.

Despite the fact that a county prosecutor's job is political in nature — we like to feel that as a member of the legal profession he would not confuse gaudy press treatment with scientific evaluation.

For him to base the impetus of a case on journalistic treatment is to expect the medical profession to base its research on the findings of news media science reports.

The point that two prominent citizens sought the investigation is no more important than if two less prominent citizens sought it. The two citizens (not from Plymouth) who buzzed the prosecutor were intermediaries serving as rubber balls for a party worker.

If future investigations are motivated by the same factors which served as springboards for the Straley roadshow — then all of us are in greater danger than we think.

Perhaps the citizens of Wayne County had best listen more intently to the cries of the young.

Bald Eagle Speaks

Beating Down Apathy

By Bob Ameen

Apathy shown by Livonia residents in turning out for candidate night meetings prevailed last week when less than 12,000 voters trekked to the polls to vote for candidates of their choice ..... Total vote represented about one-fourth of the nearly 45,000 city inhabitants registered to vote.....

Overheard was talk that voting on Sunday as permitted in Europe would increase voter showup at polls markedly .... When tried overseas, scheme reportedly worked to tune of 95 per cent turnout.....

In any event, some solution should be worked out to lure residents to the voting booths.....Those who don't register and who don't vote deserve exactly what they get when votes are counted .... Don't put yourself in that position; get out and vote next April 6 in the city final election.

Interesting sidelight to the primary election was one write-in vote for Dale Welling for city treasurer.....Add Bacon wasted no time in telling newsmen waiting for results at city hall that he did not recognize the vote.

Bob Shaw director of public works and campaign manager for Mayor Harvey Moelke, claimed default for his boss in the primary.....Seemed that one of two voting machines in a certain precinct registered votes for Ed McNamara and Ron Nisun, but for some reason or another, failed to tally a single mark for Moelke.....

Shaw contended total votes cast in precinct showed the mayor being deprived of 76 votes.....Clerk Bacon dutifully promised to have an expert voting machine technician called in to inspect the prejudiced marvel of mechanization.

Only precinct won by Ron Mardiros in his bid to gain nomination for the city treasurer slot was in precinct 33.....

Word is that his Irish sounding name may have exerted some degree of influence on catholic sisters who make up the precinct.

Incumbent Pete Ventura awoke day after election probably thinking he had a pleasant dream ....When he went to bed Monday night, he had finished in fifth spot in his fight for re-election.....

Next day, much to his surprise, he was fourth.....Miscalculations in voting count was culprit.....Needless to say, Pete was quite pleased, but Mary Dumas, fourth on previous night and fifth several hours later, could not share his joy.

Distaff member of Pilgrim United Church called to say she was quite miffed that 75 high schoolers reported as turning out last week for protest against death of political action clubs was in fact really more like 200..... Now that "correct" figure has been published in identical position, trust that all's well.....

However, she was informed these youngsters should be encouraged by their elders to channel energies into more constructive pursuits.

Notice to female shoppers: New "Jimmy's Rustic,' dealing in casual furniture, will open about next April a block west of Middle Belt on the north side of Six Mile .... Outlet is third, with other two located in Detroit and Birmingham.

Unveil Lovely View With Double Glass

When winter comes, lovely views are sometimes sacrificed for warmth. Witness the use of maxi-coats over mini-dresses.

The same sort of situation used to exist for homeowners who had to cover wide-view windows with heavy drapes, blinds and storm sash to cut heat loss and keep rooms comfortable.

For homeowners, at least, the dilemma has been solved by the availability of wood windows with insulating glass. Once a custom feature, together at the edges to form a dry air layer in between. It has a number of benefits:

By eliminating storm sash, it preserves the beauty and visibility of wide-view windows. Window styles with large glass areas, and those which—because of their shape-are difficult to fit with insulating glass (which eliminates the need for storm sash) is now obtainable in all styles and stock sizes of ponderosa pine windows.

Insulating glass is two separate sheets of glass sealed storm sash, become practical in any room with any weather exposure.

Also eliminates the time-consuming maintenance (seasonal changes, repair, storage) associated with storm sash.

Helps make windows weathertight, thereby cutting heat loss and reducing fuel costs.

When used in wood window units, insulating glass gives maximum protection against condensation.

The effectiveness of doubleglazed wood windows in combating heat loss and condensation results from a combination of factors.

1. Wood sash is a poor conductor of heat, which makes it a "natural" insulator. Tests show, for instance, that when the outside temperature is 20 degrees, the interior wood sash registers 59 degrees. (Aluminum sash drops to 32 degrees.)

2. Quaility weatherstripping, which is factory-applied to ponderosa pine windows, prevents the infiltration of cold outside air.

3. The "insulating" layer of dry air in a double-glazed window retards the transmission of heat.

These combined factors result in what might be termed a "warm'. window, which eliminates the cause of condensation. (Condensation results from warm interior air striking a cold window.) Only under extreme weather conditions will condensation form on a wood window with insulating glass. In these circumstances, triple glazing storm sash over insulating glass) is recommended.

The value of window protection against heat loss and condensation is evidenced by the fact that many utilities recommend use of wood windows with insulating glass or storm sash in electrically-heated homes, where full thermal insulation is a construction requirement.

Generally, wood windows with insulating glass cost only about 15 percent more than single-glazed windows with separate storm sash-a cost that's quickly paid for in terms of added protection, fuel savings and convenience.

Modern Living

In the light of modern homeowners' demands for maximum convenience and minimal maintenance, the current switch to electric heat is not surprising.

Industry statistics show almost 3.4 million electrically-heated residences at the beginning of 1969—a record increase of 11 percent (or 427,000 additions) over the preceding year. Estimates are that the number will more than double in the next five years (7.5 million by 1975) and climb to 12.4 million by 1980.

The appeal of electric heat is broad-based, with practical and esthetic benefits to homeowners, builders and architects. Its increased use reflects today's emphasis on easier living, lower upkeep, more efficient home operation and better house design.

From the homeowner's point of view, electric heat offers comfortable climate control (with individual thermostats for every room), cleanliness (no fuel oxidation to result in soot and dust), noiselessness (especially important for sound-controlled houses), and continual supply (no need for fuel checks and reorders).

One of the most important side-effects of electric heat is upgraded residential construction. This occurs because certain construction requirements - set by utility companies-must be met when electric heating systems are installed. A prime requirement is full thermal insulation-proper insulation in walls, ceilings and floors-to cut heat loss and fuel costs, and insure efficient operation of the system. Result is the use of quality building materials for electrically-heated homes.

For example, proper windows and doors are part of the thermal insulation standard. Electric utilities strongly recommend that window sash and frame materials provide "no continuous metallic path from the inside of the structure to the outside air". In addition, they specify efficient weather-stripping and insulating glass or storm sash. Most builders meet these requirements by using quality wood windows such as ponderosa pine units, which are factory-weather-stripped and obtainable with insulating glass in all styles and stock sizes.

What makes wood a superior insulating material for windows and doors is its extremely low level of conduction. While aluminum and steel transmit heat readily, wood retards both heat loss and heat gain. Engineering studies show that a wood window with an 80 per cent glass area loses 22 percent less heat than the same size window in a metal frame. This is especially significant in view of the increasing use of large glass areas in contemporary homes.

A stalk of corn growing in a field uses more than a gallon of water daily.

Colors Can Talk

Colors may not actually "talk" but they certainly convey feelings. Gaiety, serenity and coolness are just a few emotions that colors can portray. Some may even speak to you personally. Perhaps you love pink but think green is horrid. These preferences should be considered when decorating your home. The Better Floors Council suggests you pick colors with great care.

Decide what colors you enjoy living with. If undecided, look carefully at colors in homes you visit and in magazines to determine which ones especially appeal to you.

When this decision is made, test floor tile, paint and fabric samples in the rooms where they will be used, under both daytime and nighttime illumination. What looks cheerful in sunlight sometimes appears gloomy at night. Be sure to move the sample around the room because light intensity changes from one area to another Place samples on the surfaces where they will be used: paint chips on walls, resilient tile on floors, fabrics on furniture.

Touching Wood Is Good Window Test

Sophisticated graphs and statistical charts may prove a point to engineers. But to the average home owner, the most convincing evidence is still the old method of "touch and see".

For instance, touch a piece of metal that has been exposed to winter weather. It's cold. Touch wood, and you'll find it relatively warm. In summer the reverse is true. Metal gets hot, wood doesn't.

That's the simple principle behind the superior insulating quality of wood windows such as ponderosa pine units, which substantially cut heat loss in winter and heat gain in summer. It's also one of the reasons wood windows with insulating glass help prevent condensation.

Condensation is moisture that forms on window sash and frames, fogs the pane, and drips onto sills, walls and floors. It's messy, and can cause expensive water damage.

The problem occurs when heated indoor air strikes a cold surface. The solution is to use windows that remain relatively warm. Since metal sash transmits heat so readily, it tends to encourage condensation. Wood sash——— which doesn't readily react to heat or cold—is a good first line of defense against the problem Combining wood sash with insulating glass prevents it.

Insulating glass is actually two sheets of glass sealed together at the edges to form a dry "insulating" layer of air between. Since the glass is premanently installed, there are no maintenance or storage problems. There are only two window panes to wash per window instead of four, as there would be with storm sash. Once a custom feature, insulating glass is now obtainable in all styles and stock sizes of ponderosa pine windows.

While the convenience and effectiveness of wood windows with insulating glass benefit any home, they are particularly desirable in those with electric heat. This is because condensation is more likely to occur when indoor humidity is high. In electrically-heated homes, one of the benefits is that indoor humidity averages a comfortably high level of from 27 to 35 percent.

Engineering tests show that when the outside temperature is 20 degrees and the indoor temperature is 70 degrees, condensation will form on aluminum sash at the low level of 24 percent relative humidity. But, indoor humidity would have to reach 68 percent before condensation will form on wood sash. For this reason, many utility companies recommend wood windows with insulating glass (or storm sash) for electrically-heated homes.

Gremore Brings Up PCHA Issues

TO THE EDITOR:

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority is facing two of the most important issues ever to confront it during its twenty-five year history, and yet, under the leadership of the present Chairman of the Board of Directors, Donald J. Pizimenti, of Allen Park, an employee of the Detroit Edison Company and Dr. Karl S. Klicka, the Executive Director, for the past 3½ years, no action has been taken as of this date, to correct either of the two issues.

One of the problems concerns the membership of the Board of Directors governing the Hospital Authority, Act 47 of the Public Act of 1945 as amended, require that representation on the Board of Directors shall be passed on the population of each City, Village or Township, participating in such Hospital Authority based on the latest Federal decimal census.

The original Law required that each participating community appoint one member for each 20,000 population, or a fraction thereof, and seven members at large to be selected by the appointed members. As the population of the Hospital Authority increased, the P.C.H.A. took steps to have the Law amended to increase the requirement to one for each 20,000 population or a fraction thereof and one for each additional 40,000 or fraction thereof and seven members at large selected by the appointed members.

The present Board of Directors of the P.C.H.A. is made up of thirty-five appointed Representatives from twenty-three participating communities and seven members at large for a total of forty-two Directors.

However, the 1970 Federal decimal census is due in the very near future and based on projected population estimates from reliable sources, under the existing law the Board of Directors will be increased to approximately sixty-eight members. The present Board is unwieldy at forty-two and every month for the past 3½ years the attendance at Board meetings has been less than 50% making it necessary to make hurried phone calls in order to make a quorum to conduct official business.

As a matter of fact, the last revenue bond issue for approximately eighteen million dollars was passed by twenty-three members and when one of the representatives from Dearborn Heights asked to change his "Yes" vote in favor of the bond issue, for a "no" vote he was ruled out of order and the issue was slammed thru.

Last year the Wayne County Board of Supervisors was reduced from One hundred-Ten representatives to twenty-five, the Wayne County Building Authority consists of three members. The Housing Authority for the entire State of Michigan consists of only seven members, the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority which consists of the Counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, Wayne and two appointees of the Governor is governed by a Board of Directors of seven men.

The granddaddy of them all, the Port of New York Authority which covers the States of New York, New Jersey, has three members on the Board. Yet the P.C.H.A. operating four hospitals will have a Board of Directors larger than all the different authorities in the State of Michigan combined unless Legislation is passed in this session of the Legislature.

The second issue is one that C. B. Gozadd (legal counsel for P.C.H.A.) has known about for years since the first bond issue was discussed in the early fifties, but it was forbidden to ever discuss it, because to do so, would eliminate the sale of any bonds.

Now, however, due to events that transpired in late September, the P.C.H.A. and all other authorities in the State of Michigan, will have to face reality and try to resolve the problem brought on by the recent annexation by the City of Belleville of approximately 50 acres of land belonging to the Township of Van Buren.

The Township of Van Buren has been a participating member of the Hospital Authority since its formation. The City of Belleville is not now and never has been a member of P.C.H.A.

The 4/10 of a mill assessment authorized by Law levied annually against each participating community in the Hospital Authority, is pledged for the next thirty years for the retirement of the 18 million dollar bond issue, which bond issue is being used to pay off a previous bond issue and provide the necessary funds for the construction of the new Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Michigan and the expansion of the Seaway Hospital in Trenton, Michigan.

The fifty acres which Belleville annexed is not the issue per se but the loss of revenue through the assessment to P.C.H.A. is of extreme importance to the bond holders and the communities which make up P.C.H.A.

The legal complexities are enormous, i.e.—does the Township of Van Buren still have to pay their assessment to P.C.H.A. based on valuations set prior to the annexation? If the answer is No, does the annexing community, in this case the City of Belleville, have to assume this financial responsibility and pay an assessment for the fifty acres to the P.C.H.A.?

If the answer is yes, then the approximately one hundred-fifty people who live in the area annexed would be entitled to a representative on the Board of Directors of the P.C.H.A. and if the authority denies them this right, it would be tantamount to taxation without representation.

Also, would not the One-Hundred Fifty people in this area be entitled to the use of the P.C.H.A. Hospital without paying the 20% surcharge which would be charged to the balance of Belleville citizens who may use the hospitals operated by the P.C.H.A.

As it now stands, the City of Dearborn, Ann Arbor, Detroit or any other non-member community could annex a community or portion of a participating community and take away the revenues pledged to retire the bond issue.

Someone is going to have to make up this difference, conceivably 50% of the present communities participating in the P.C.H.A. could be swallowed up through annexations of non-participating communities and the remaining communities would have to make up the loss in revenue to pay off the bonds.

It seems strange that this matter has not been discussed and stranger still due to the fact, that C. B. Gozadd, the P.C.H.A. Legal Counsel, was aware of this problem years ago, and lives in Van Buren Township and his law partner Ward B. Smith, who lives in Dearborn is attorney for the City of Belleville and also attorney for P.C.H.A.

Dr. Karl Klicka, the Executive Director of P.C.H.A. lives in Van Buren Township as do John Freisinger-Superintendent of Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and Floyd Thetford a member at large, yet not one of these persons in six months has discussed this matter or brought it to the Boards attention.

The buyers of the Bonds bought them in good faith and were assured by the Board of Directos of P.C.H.A. that they would be paid off. They also, have the assurance of C. B. Gozadd who has been paid large fees (in addition to regular fees) for preparing the bond ordinances and obtaining the necessary legal opinion for the sale of said Bonds.

It would appear that some one is going to have to come up with some answers that should have been told long ago.

KEN W. GREMORE,
Former Executive Director
People Community Hospital Authority

WCCC Deadline Delayed

DETROIT Wayne County Community College has pushed back the registration deadline on an urban technology program geared to provide technical know-how to community organizations, civic groups and block clubs around the county.

According to Art Neal, Director of the Urban Technology Program, registration is open until the end of February and classes will continue until the end of June.

Neal, a Detroit urban consultant, said the curriculum for the program grew out of needs expressed by members of various community groups during WC3's first semester.

The Urban Technology Program, which is part of the school's vocational and technical educational division, is designed to provide laymen with the technical background to deal with federal, state and local agencies, Neal said.

"Another function of the program," he said, "is to train paraprofessional personnel to work with these organizations."

Full college credit which is transferable to any university in the state or applicable towards a two-year degree from WC3 will be granted for course work, Neal said.

Typical of the four urban technology courses offered this semester is a class in the "housing development process. According to Neal the course is designed to "expose the students to the physical and economic processes for housing development — including the various funding grants available and the restrictive guidelines" placed on housing construction by federal and local agencies.

The courses will be offered at all 26 WC3 centers pending enrollment. Registration is at the college's central office located at 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

WC3's open door admission policy which allows anyone 19 or over to enroll applies to the Urban Technology Program. Students under 19 must have a high school diploma or if they are still in high school, must have written permission from their principal and parents.

Neal said tuition for each course is $27 with "special aid available for hardship cases."

'Harvey' Hops Into West Wayne

"Harvey" is coming to Livonia March 19-21- and 21st.

The Westland Community Theatre Group will bring the recently revived Broadway hit to Dickinson Jr. High in connection with the current 10-week course in Community Theatre offered by the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department.

The tenth week of this class will actually be the dress rehearsal of the production.

Harvey, a 6'2" invisible white rabbit, is fantasy and comedy all rolled into one. Bob Knowles, a local director, set designer and actor says, Nelson Gotshall of Livonia will portray Elwood P. Dowd with Jackie Amperse portraying his sister and Pat Knowles as his niece Myrtle Mae Simmons.

Also in the cast are Bob Evens, Lily Burdo, Kelly White, Don Atkins, Kingsley Page, Peg Knowles, Milo Jordan and Jim Janecki.

On February 28, the producer, Peg Knowles will introduce the cast to many who will attend the performance. This "Pre Glow" will be open to the public and promises to be very enjoyable with dancing, hors d' oeuvres, refreshments, door prizes, and several scenes from "Harvey". Tickets are $2.50 per person and may be obtained by calling Celine Werner at 425-3573 or Peg Knowles at 421-3352.

Helen Hayes --'A Polished Gem'

By HOWARD ALLEN
Amusement Critic

"Harvey," Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize comedy, revived by the Phoenix Theatre and presented in Ann Arbor by the University of Michigan's Professional Theatre Program, is at the awkward age -- too old to be considered modern yet not quite old enough to be enshrined as a period comedy.

It was therefore of dubious value for Stephen Porter — familiar to PTP fans as a top director of the APA with which the Phoenix was so long associated — to stage "Harvey" in modern dress. Today's clothes just don't take in a play which is starting to be quaint around the edges and the program should not list the time as the present. The forties are a century away from the spirit of today's theater.

Yet anyone who would not pay the price of admission to see Helen Hayes on the stage again is missing one of the genuine experiences of the legitimate stage. Miss Hayes gives a textbook performance — fledgling actors would do better to watch her in action than study a dozen books.

Every movement, every gesture, every word becomes a carefully polished gem as she enacts the frustrations of a socially pretentious widow with a disreputable brother.

James Stewart performs a magician's trick of recreating a role he did on Broadway 20 years ago and seeming more right for the part today. His interpretation is studied and reflective, perhaps even laconic, as the man with a large invisible rabbit for a friend.

"Harvey" is a pooka, a fey spirit whom only Stewart can see and he nearly is committed for his pains. Jesse White appears well as the overbearing sanitarium orderly, a role he originated on Broadway.

The Concept East Theatre is currently offering a pair of introspective one-acters by contemporary black playwrights. Both suggest that blacks should tend to their own business and never mind Whitey. The least successful is "How Do You Do" by Ed Bullins, who was far more successful with "Clara's Old Man." Here he puts two pretentious stereotypes on a park bench to preen before each other over their looks, their clothes, their white lovers and their status and to sneer contemptuously at a racially-concious voice of reason who eavesdrops, equally contemptuously.

The main problem here is that by admitting in the program that you have created stereotypes, and Bullins so labels his characters, doesn't assuage any of the problems in creating them. The best theatrical stereotypes far transcend their stock origins; Bullins pair never gets off the ground. Director Leonard Smith's static staging adds little.
